The sight of two of our well known and popular citizens on the water wagon last Saturday afternoon caused quite a little amusement among the large crowd of citizens in the square. At the request of the two young men, Driver Frank Smith vacated his seat and for a time everything went smoothly, Main street being sprinkled as it had never been before. The wagon would not stay full forever and so a stop was made at the stand pipe at the corner of High street for another supply. The wagon was about half filled when came the critical time. Driving fire engine horses is not like driving an ordinary every day plug and when the fire alarm suddenly tooted, away went the pair at the first stroke, the man at the reins hanging on bravely, but the other who was at the valve, was thrown. The fun did not stop here for the suddenness of the parting between the wagon and one of the drivers did not give him an opportunity to shut off the water and after much debating how it should be done, he decided that he must "shinny" the pipe. This was done after much trouble. The men agree that being on the water wagon in a figurative sense is much more agreeable than being on it in reality.

CANOE CLUB DANCE.

The annual promenade of the Methuen Canoe club was held in Nevins Memorial hall Wednesday. It was a matter of regret that owing to the illness of one of the members of the cast, the drama which had been planned as the entertainment feature of the evening, had to be given up. A concert by the Columbian orchestra was substituted, however, and was much enjoyed. Following the concert the matrons received, and then dancing was inaugurated, continuing until a late hour.

The matrons were: Mrs. Helen F. Spooner, Mrs. William H. Buswell, Mrs. Joseph K. Colby and Miss Carrie J. Holden. The ushers were Herbert Gordon, Henry Perkins, Harry Poor and Alfred Gaunt.

The general committee in charge comprised Chester Brackett, Elmer Coburn, Harry Poor and Herbert Gordon.

During the intermission refreshments were served by the committee.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Buswell, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Remick, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. George, Mr. and Mrs. George Langley, Mrs. Nevins, Miss Elise Nevins, Miss Hattie Crosby, Misses Patty Hartley, Miss Eulia Scollay, Ellen Johnson, Anna Lea, Martha Paige, Sylvia Leavitt, Mary Turner, Cora Gordon, Etta Jowett, Annie Spicer, Florence Barrett, Emma Pedler, Jessie Bottomley, Lillian Learned, Ruth Ramsley, Bertha Fisher, Helen Frederick, Bessie Gilman, Bessie Trussell, Nellie Doyen, Florence Bodwell, Helen Silloway, Marion Silloway, Blanche Ropes, Marion Dorward, Edith Pedler, Helen Barrett, Beatrice Spicer.

D. A. R. MEETING.

The annual business was transacted at the meeting of Samuel Adams chapter, D. A. R., Saturday afternoon. Regent Mrs. L. E. Barnes presided. Various reports for the year were read and accepted. An interesting paper was read by Miss E. J. Morse in regard to the recent meeting of the Continental congress. These officers were elected for the year: Regent, Mrs. L. E. Barnes; vice-regent, Mrs. S. J. Barker; recording secretary, Miss M. E. Beedle; coresponding secretary, Miss E. J. Morse; treasurer, Mrs. R. M. Cross; historian, Miss C. A. Howe; registrar, Miss Nellie Coburn; board of management, Mrs. Jacob Emerson, Mrs. George E. Woodbury, Mrs. William Rogers, Mrs. W. J. Nichols, and Miss Hattie Stevens. Alternates, Mrs. Joseph W. Bodwell and Miss Ella Bodwell.

Both Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Barker declined to accept their election. Mrs. Barnes has been regent of the chapter for the past seven years and she feels that there are other members of the chapter who are capable of filling the office and as she has many important matters to attend to, it was her urgent request that the chapter accept her resignation. Mrs. Barkers feelings were similar and it was her urgent request that the members of the chapter accept her resignation as well. The chapter will probably act on the resignations later.

PASTOR CALLED.

An adjourned meeting of the Universalist parish was held last night, and it was announced that Rev. Judson P. He is favored with a strong, pleasing voice, and is an interesting and effective speaker. He is a nephew of Dr. Patterson, of Roxbury, well known in Universalist circles, and brother of the Mr. Marvin the dean of Franklin academy, a Universalist school. Mr. Marvin is married and has one son, five years old. Mr. Marvin has been successful in the pastorates that he has held in the past. He has been located at Winchester, N. H., and has been at Stafford, Conn. for five years.

Moderator J. Haskell Gordon presided at the meeting last night. Rev. Charles Conklin, state superintendent of Universalist work was present and made an address.

CRICKET

MERRIMAC AND LAWRENCE TEAMS LOSE AT CRICKET.

BOSTON, May 21—At Franklin field Saturday what looked a certain win for Merrimac was turned into a running fight and a loss by two runs instead, owing to the heady bowling of Fairburn and Keen, and some quick, brilliant fielding by Boston men.

Boston batted first and found that the grand bowling put up by Robertshaw, Ogden and Moss was hard to score from and demanded careful playing. Hood and Wall opened well; the partnership of Fairburn, Keen and Bell brought up the score and all were out for 74.

Merrimac began to bat heavily and runs came fast until the seventh wicket showed but six to tie. But here is where the Keen-Fairburn bowling competition came in, and the old warhorses showed their mettle by tying up the batters, holding down the score, and finally landing a victory by two runs. Ogden played a fine inning for his 34, and was well backed up by Longbottom. Robertshaw had 4 for 35 and Moss 4 for 3. Keen 4 for 35 and Fairburn 4 for 2. The score:

NEEDHAM, May 21—Highlandville won its first game by defeating Lawrence on the home grounds Saturday afternoon. Features were the bowling of Warren, who took seven wickets for 12 runs, and the batting of Stanwood and Swithenback. Highlandville played several new men who made a good showing. The fielding of Whetton was specially pleasing to the home contingent. The score:

ARCHAEOLOGY NOTES.

A freshet in Florida recently uncovered some interesting Spanish and French relics near the site of the Huguenot fort of La Caroline. This was attacked in 1565 by the Spaniard Menendez and his men and all the inhabitants, save a few women and children put to the sword. The French afterwards sent an expedition to Florida and destroyed a Spanish fort, putting its defenders to death in retaliation.

Mr. Francis Duff, an archaeologist living in New Mexico, who has sent the Philips academy department specimens from time to time, was recently killed in a pistol duel in one of the frontier towns in southern New Mexico.

There are even "virgins' garlands" still in existence in Minsterley Church, Salop, the first of them bearing the date 1554 and the last 1751.

They consist of silk ribbon and paper ball shaped, and are covered with rosettes, the inside centre of the cane or wire frame supporting a pair of paper gloves. They represent a romantic custom of very ancient origin, and are sacred to the memory of girls who, while betrothed in their youth, lost their intended husbands by death, yet remained true to their first loves.

Each maiden designed her own garland, and at her death this simple emblem was borne before her by the village lasses, the white gloves being afterward added. After the obsequies these garlands were suspended in the village church on a rod bearing at its extremity a heart in the shape of an escutcheon, upon which the initals and date were inscribed. There were originally fixed above the maiden's pew.

Some of the earliest and forgotten garlands were composed of real flowers but later the covered hoops described were substituted.

There is a passing allusion to this "simple memorial of the early dead" in "Hamlet," "Yet here she is allowed her virgin crants," "crants" signifying garlands.

Demands of the Douma Voice Aspirations of Russian People and Force Issue on the Czar—Turkey Yields to England — Japan Raises Tariff Wall—Senate Passes Rate Bill, 71 to 3, as "Pennsy's" Corrupt Discriminations Are Demonstrated—Democrats Charge President With Bad Faith.

LEGISLATIVE

President's Veracity Impugned.

The aftermath of President Roosevelt's unexpected acceptance of the original Allison compromise amendment for the sake of party harmony and on the suggestion of the conservative Republican leaders, Aldrich and Spooner, was the charge of bad faith toward the Democratic minority, made by Tillman, who had charge of the bill. Standing in his place, Tillman told the senate that ex-Senator William E. Chandler of New Hampshire had acted as the president's envoy in negotiating with Democrats who would not go to the White House and that the president had said to Chandler that Knox, Spooner and Foraker "were trying to injure or defeat the rate bill by ingenious constitutionalities." Tillman told also of a conference which Chandler had arranged for him and Bailey with Attorney General Moody, with whom the Democrats had agreed on a certain amendment. Hence the president's sudden support of the Allison amendment was regarded as bad faith, and Bailey said that the president was not a man of iron, but a man of clay, "and very common clay at that."

William E. Chandler.

Lodge of Massachusetts after telephoning to the White House told the senate that the president had authorized him to say that the report of his reflection on Knox, Spooner and Foraker was "a deliberate and unqualified falsehood." Chandler in a prepared statement for the press corroborated what Tillman had said and gave out a letter from the president's secretary asking him (Chandler) to the White House.

In a letter to Senator Allison the president declared that he did not ask Chandler to open negotiations with the Democrats, but that he understood Chandler to be the Democratic emissary, and that he had said to Chandler exactly what he had said to others. He had accepted the Allison amendment, as it did not change the scope of the court review provision of the Hepburn bill. He ignored the story of his remark about the senators. Attorney General Moody in a letter to the president indicated that his chief was not committed to any particular amendment. Finally Tillman replied in the senate, saying that the president's letter was ingenious, but not ingenuous. Tillman denied emphatically that he had authorized Chandler or any one to confer for him with the president. He held that the president was bound to give the Democrats notice of his change after conferring with them.

This controversy stirred the senate again when Bailey denounced as a "deliberate and malicious liar" the writer of a dispatch to the Chicago Tribune and the New York Tribune in which it was said Tillman had told Chandler that he distrusted Bailey and suspected him of dealing secretly with Aldrich and the Republican conservatives. Tillman promptly denied that he had ever been suspicious of Bailey. Bailey not only denounced the correspondent, but said the dispatch was inspired in the White House and that the man who inspired it, however high in office, was a liar.

Rate Bill Passed, 71 to 3.

With only three dissenting voices on the final roll call May 18 the much amended Hepburn rate bill, which had been before the senate for fifty-two days, was adopted. The dissenters were one Republican, Foraker of Ohio, and two Democrats, Morgan and Pettus of Alabama. Many others on both sides said they were not satisfied with the bill, but voted "aye" rather than be recorded against a measure which was in the direction at least of federal regulation of railroad rates and on which the supreme court might make a ruling as to constitutional limitations. Just before final passage the senate cut out the words "in its judgment" where it was provided that the commission should fix rates which in its judgment were just and reasonable. The retention of these words was one of the features of the Allison compromise, through which it was thought possible to pass the measure, but the noted lawyers in the senate declared that unless they were eliminated the bill would be unconstitutional, because they conferred direct legislative powers on the commission. La Follette succeeded in getting inserted an amendment permitting railroads to issue free passes to members of organizations of railroad men.

The Allison Amendment.

As finally adopted by the senate the Allison rate bill amendment reads as follows:

"The venue of suits brought in any of the circuit courts of the United States to enjoin, set aside, annul or suspend any order or requirement of the commission shall be in the district where the carrier, against whom such order or requirement may have been made, has its principal operating office and may be brought at any time after such order is promulgated. And if the order or requirement has been made against two or more carriers, then in the district where any one of the said carriers has its principal operating office. And if the carrier has its principal operating office in the District of Columbia, then the venue shall be in the district where said carrier has its principal office, and jurisdiction to hear and determine such suits is hereby vested in such courts."

For Sea Level Canal.

By the vote of 6 to 4 the senate committee on interoceanic canals decided to report a bill to construct the Panama canal at sea level. The reasons given by the majority in support of this plan are that it will be much safer and more convenient, that it will take little if any longer to construct, that the maintenance would be simpler and more economical and that it is the ideal type of canal. The San Francisco earthquake is used as an argument in favor of the sea level plan.

House For Big Battleship.

By the vote of 135 to 103 in the committee of the whole the motion of Burton (Rep., O.) to strike out the provision for the biggest battleship afloat was rejected, and the committee programme went through. Burton argued that construction was proceeding out of proportion to the increase in personnel and that at the present rate our navy would be next to the English by 1910. Tawney (Rep., Minn.), chairman of the appropriations committee, was among the opponents of this measure, and he pointed out that our total war account for 1906 would be 63 per cent of the entire revenue of the government. This included the pension roll and left over expenses of past wars. The Bartholdt amendment, making the battleship construction contingent upon a naval limitation measure's being adopted by The Hague conference within a year, was rejected. As reported and passed the naval bill carried $99,634,215.

POLITICAL

Taylor to Succeed Carmack.

Ex-Governor Bob Taylor of Tennessee is the choice of the Democrats of his state for the United States senate, having obtained a decisive majority over Senator Carmack in the recent primaries. Taylor's nomination is equivalent to an election, as the legislature is sure to carry out the party's will next winter. Governor Taylor became a national figure through his personal canvass and his popularity with the masses. He was known as the "fiddling governor." It was his habit to play a tune on his fiddle before making an address to the voters.

Democrats Name a Republican.

The Democratic state convention of Rhode Island has made the innovation of nominating a candidate and has taken the unusual course of nominating an independent Republican, Colonel Robert H. I. Goddard. The coalition of the Democrats and independent Republicans is expected to make the issue on the record of Aldrich and Wetmore against radical rate legislation.

Weaver Boomed For Governor.

Following the failure of the independent Republican organization of Pennsylvania, known as the Lincoln party, to reach a satisfactory agreement with the regular Republican organization, a boom to make Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia the candidate of the Lincolnites for governor was started and has attained large proportions. The mayor himself intimated that he would not decline the honor.

EXECUTIVE

Coal and Oil Trusts Exposed.

How Pennsylvania railroad officials have favored certain coal shippers through flagrant car discriminations in return for gifts of coal stock and money has been brought to light by the interstate commerce commission's investigation at Philadelphia. General Superintendent Creighton testified that in 1903 the entire number of available coal cars were distributed among favorite concerns. This policy was agreed upon in a conference between him, General Manager Atterbury and General Superintendent Trump. Solicitor Cowen said this was done to protect the consumer and avoid traffic congestion. President Jamison of the Jamison Coal and Coke company, one of the largest coal shippers in Pennsylvania, told of giving $5,000 in cash to Robert Pitcairn, assistant to President Cassatt, to secure transportation favors, while large blocks of stock, valued at $10,000 each, were handed out to various other traffic officials. Robert K. Cassatt, the son of the president, admitted that the Keystone Coal and Coke company, of which he is president, had been especially favored in car distribution and rates so as to be able to undersell its rivals. Similar discriminations were disclosed by the traffic officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Car Distributer Clark of the Pennsylvania told of special assignments of cars to the Berwind-White Coal Mining company, up to 500 a day, on orders from general officers. These damaging facts were brought out under the questioning of William A. Glasgow, Jr., counsel for the commission. President Cassatt has sailed for Europe.

The commerce commission hearings at Chicago and in Ohio have brought to light much evidence from former employees of the oil trust showing trickery in its selling department as well as in the larger matters of railroad favors.

Open Market For Canal.

Secretary of War Taft and the canal commission still refuse to limit the purchase of canal supplies to the American market, as they say they cannot find any such restriction in the present law. This question was revived by the recent purchase of 20,000 barrels of English cement at 37 cents less per barrel than had been offered in America. Cement manufacturers in this country are stirring up members of congress and senators to do something about this, and there is a strong faction in congress which would shut out the European market entirely.

RELIGIOUS

Dr. Crapsey a Heretic.

The court of the western New York diocese of the Episcopal church, before which the Rev. Dr. Algernon S. Crapsey of Rochester was recently tried, has rendered a verdict of guilty on the charges of heresy and has suspended him from the ministry, four of the court voting for the verdict and one, Dr. Francis S. Dunham, against it. A period of thirty days is allowed before sentence can be pronounced, and the hope is expressed that Dr. Crapsey may satisfy the church authorities that his belief and teachings conform to the Apostles' Creed and the Nicene Creed as received by the church. In order to do this the convicted presbyter will have to take back pretty nearly everything he has said or written about the virgin birth, the trinity and the resurrection. The dissenting opinion finds that Dr. Crapsey's error consisted in defining what God had not revealed and in interpreting doctrine in a manner not generally received by the church, rather than denial and rejection of their truth and authority.

Presbyterian Union Contested.

The proceedings of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, which was convened at Des Moines, Ia., last week, were enlivened by an injunction suit brought by members of the Cumberland Presbyterian church to prevent the projected union of the two churches. The assembly of the Cumberland church met on the same day at Decatur, Ill. The court was asked to enjoin the Cumberland assembly from voting upon a motion to unite. Opponents of the union base their objections in large measure upon the fear that it would be followed by disturbing litigation over the property of the church. Among the other interesting questions which came before the Presbyterian assembly was the adoption of a new prayer book presented by a committee headed by Dr. Henry Van Dyke and the heresy charge against the Rev Dr. Samuel T. Carter of New York. The presbytery of Nassau has asked the advice of the general assembly about what to do with Dr. Carter, who in a recent letter reiterated his opinion that "there never was, there is not and there never will be such a God as the God of the Westminster Confession."

Hatless Women In Church.

Without an opposing vote the governing board of the Franklin (Pa.) Methodist church has given notice that henceforth the women who worship in that church must remove their hats. Many men had complained that the wearing of large hats had interfered with their following the sermon.

SCIENTIFIC

Rockefeller Institute Dedicated.

The dedication of the Rockefeller Institution for Medical Research at New York has brought into operation the best equipped organization of its kind in the world. One new feature in the building is the filtering of all the air in the various rooms, laboratories and also of the living quarters of the animals used. The laboratories are for investigation in pathology, bacteriology, physiology and in the chemistry of these subjects. There are now twelve experimenters at work under the supervision of Dr. Simon Flexner. About twenty-four students who must be graduated physicians can be accommodated in the institute at one time. The operating suits are on the third and fourth floors and the roof, and on a part of the roof most of the dogs and smaller animals are kept while under experiment. The institute was founded by John D. Rockefeller in 1901 "to advance the investigation of the science of medicine." Besides carrying on experimenting in its own laboratories it grants money to others engaged in medical research elsewhere. The result of the investigations is published in the Journal of Experimental Medicine, issued bimonthly by the institution. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and wife were among those present at the dedication.

BEER BARRELS BOMBARD HOUSE

From the London Daily Graphic.

An extraordinary accident occured in Islington yesterday afternoon. A horse drawing a brewer's dray laden with barrels of beer got beyond control of the driver while going down hill and, dashing into Rodney street at a wild gallop, charged into some iron railings in front of the area of 19 Rodney street.

The railings gave way and the horse and dray tumbled into the area. Some of the barrels crashed through the window of No. 19 into a room where a man named Bowden was at dinner with his four children and his sister-in-law, and injured Bowden about the head. His wife and a baby were in bed on the further side of the room, and would probably have been killed by one barrel had it not been stopped by the chair in which Bowden sat.

The interior of the room was partially wrecked, furniture and crockery being smashed and a large hole made in the floor. The driver of the dray was taken to the hospital. The horse was instantly killed.

CONDEMNF TO SLAVERY.

From the Collectors' Magazine.

Two hundred years ago, when men and women were condemned to death for trivial offences, it was the custom in Scotland to commute the death sentence into perpetual servitude to specified masters—in other words, the condemned person became a slave. It was further ordained that he should wear a metal collar round his neck recording his sentence and punishment.

The Society of Scottish antiquaries owns one of these collars, fished out of the Forth above Alloa. It is of brass, with this inscription: "Alexander Steward, found guilty of death for theft at Perth 8th December, 1701, and gifted by the Justiciars as a perpetual servant to Sir John Airesen of Alva."

GILCHRIST CORNER

Forms Another Landmark for Boston

These are the days when we all hear about someone or other cornering copper or sugar or cotton, but did you ever hear of anybody conering a corner?

No! Well, it has been done and by the Gilchrist Co., and having accomplished the feat they are prepared to unload stock today in their new store at Washington and Winter sts. The public are in on the deal and the corner was made for their especial benefit. We advise them, especially the women, to take advantage of the opportunities offered.

Shop by daylight in a well ventilated store and when you finish you will not have a headache and that tired feeling.

If Mrs. Boston wants to see whether or not her hat is on straight she does not have to search for a mirror, for the new store is a perfect maze of mirrors. Everything is in luxuriant taste; the counters are of mahogany with a cherry finish. And then most important of all on the counters are a rich and varied assortment of silks, velvets, laces and ribbons and vellings, ladies' neckwear, dress trimmings, braids and buttons.

The opening of the new store marks a stride in the direction of a "bigger, better and busier Gilchrists," and likewise it's going some for Boston.

Fifty years ago the dry goods world sat up and took notice when Gilchrist started the new establishment at 5 Winter st. Then the magnificent new store on Washington st., the "daylight store," was opened. The progress of the company was consummated when recently they purchased the most valuable piece of real estate in the city at the corner of Washington and Winter sts., thus connecting up both the Washington and Winter st. stores.

Gilchrist & Co. now occupy a dry goods store second to none in the city. It is situated in the very business heart of Boston and is easily reached by the subway, elevated and surface cars.

The phenomenal progress which the firm has made in the last half century is due to the business enterprise of the men connected with it. Their purpose has always been to give the public the best goods at the lowest prices.

The facilities of the now complete establishment are unsurpassed, and the management cordially invites the women of Boston and of New England to come and see for themselves.

The Affair on the Hill.

It is always interesting to study the troubles of some other person. This week at Phillips Academy there has been a long session of exciting times that have been making a pretty severe test of the real stamina in the management of that institution. It has been far more than the question of detecting the particular boys who committed an offense that has been troubling the authorities of Phillips, and those who have followed the course of events must have come to a new and stronger confidence in Principal Stearns and his assistants for the manner in which they have risen to the exacting demands of the position.

What began as a boyish prank got way beyond the bounds of such an affair, and it was a serious matter that resulted. Too many newspapers have already tried and passed judgment upon the offenders. A great "piece of news" was spoiled when the better judgment of the boys kept them from taking any united action of protest against the action of the faculty, but a much greater piece of news, which too many papers will entirely overlook was made when the authority of the head of the institution was fixed in a way that will be a tradition for many years hence at Phillips Academy. It is good to notice that the Boston Herald has not overlooked this side of the affair, as evidenced by the following editorial in its issue of Thursday :—

"The principal and faculty of Phillips Andover have done the right thing regarding the students who undertook to "haze" a citizen of the town because he had reported an offence of one of their number against a young woman. It is a matter of congratulation that the authorities of this popular school have had the courage to take firm and exemplary action in such a case. The notion that some lads get into their heads that they own the town where they are attending school, and may defy decency and violate rights at their sovereign pleasure, is based upon a wrong idea of gentlemanliness and of law. The action of Principal Stearns is based upon right grounds of morals and citizenship and should have the approval of the whole community. It does not matter much to the school temporarily that fifteen or twenty youths are expelled. It means a good deal to the school and to all to demonstrate that if parents send their sons to Phillips Andover they may have confidence that they will not be permitted to indulge in rowdyism at their own sweet will. It will be understood now, we think, that 'White Cap' discipline of citizens by students will not be tolerated. There are too many examples and inducements to the violation of order without encouraging them in our better schools. To condone such offences is to encourage them."

There have been no favorites in the consideration of the case, and the result is a loss to the school of some of the finest boys. Boys with splendid records, of the best character, full of real red blood, have shown their true makeup by acknowledging that they forgot themselves for a moment, and, with a realization now of what they have done, have taken their punishments like men.

The affair has given to the school some unpleasant notoriety, but it has likewise shown that the right kind of men are there for such emergencies, and the right kind of character is still the underlying trait of the American boy. The whole thing has made a new test of the school, and it is difficult to say whether the boys or the faculty have stood it the best. Out of it the country at large, from whence comes the membership of Phillips, will gain a new confidence in the men who are carrying on the school, and the boys who have been concerned in it will have a new appreciation of that discipline that knows firmness and justice from a school standpoint, and law and order from the citizen's standpoint.

Editorial Cinders.

A few less old veterans will probably make up the ranks of the marchers next Wednesday, and the steps will be a little slower, but the "spirit of '61" will again be in the air. The pomp and display of Memorial Day grows less each year, but the undercurrent of patriotism that is inspired by it grows correspondingly deeper. The significance of the day cannot be too strongly impressed upon the rising generation.

****

Welcome, the familiar faces of the South church clock again. We don't know where it went for its health, but it is certainly looking much better for its vacation. May its smiling faces tell true stories for a long time to the thousands who place so much dependence upon it.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Official Program as Prepared by Commander Clukey of Post 99.

The following are the arrangements for Memorial Day and the Sunday preceding. Gen. W. F. Bartlett Post, No. 99, G. A. R., Gen. W. F. Bartlett Woman's Relief Corps, No. 127, and W. L. The line of march will be taken up and proceed to Memorial hall, where prayer will be offered by Rev. W. E. Lombard and the tablet decorated.

From there the Post will go in barges to the West Parish cemetery where prayer will be offered.

After decorating the graves, barges will be again taken for the G. A. R. hall where the comrades and escorts will be dismissed.

Graves in the Chapel and Catholic cemeteries will be decorated by detachments leaving the Town hall at 6.30 a.m. Flowers designed for particular graves should be plainly marked and left at Ammon P. Richardson's, Tuesday, May 29 or at the Flower wagon Memorial morning. A cordial invitation is extended to all soldiers and sailors, patriotic organizations and the public to join in the exercises of the day.

Rev. Roscoe L. Greene of Waltham, Mass., who will deliver the Memorial Day address, served in the Civil war in the 14th Maine Vol. He is a ready speaker and in Lynn where he lived previous to going to Waltham, he is spoken of very highly by all the comrades of Post 5. At all the entertainments of the Post he was always present, when he could leave his work and by his voice encouraged and cheered the comrades to a higher and better citizenship.

The May Celebration.

On next Sunday the annual May celebration of St. Augustine's church will occur, and the members of the Sunday-school are hoping for fair weather so that the procession may be held, as this is always one of the pleasantest features of the day.

The procession will be formed at the church at three o'clock, and the line of march will be: Up Essex street to Central street, Central street to Brook street, Brook street to church. The order of procession will be as follows: Band, Cross Bearer and Acolytes, Altar boys, Sunday-school boys, Knights of O. L. G. Hymn, "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name".

Meeting of Andover Association.

The Andover Association of ministers met on Tuesday in the South church. The attendance was unusually large. Rev. George F. Kenngott of Lowell was moderator for the day. The morning session was spent in examination of candidates for licensure. The following, all of Andover Seminary, passed examination satisfactorily: Bruce W. Brotherston, Ellery C. Clapp, Hamson L. Packard, Arthur A. McBride, Clifford L. Miller. At one o'clock the Association and the successful candidates sat down to lunch, for which Rhodes was caterer. The afternoon session was devoted to a discussion of the actual condition of Christian Endeavor societies, led by Rev. John A. McKnight of Dracut. The principal fact brought out by the discussion was that societies in this vicinity are beginning to vary the pledge and general methods, and that this process may be expected to extend, while yet the societies remain affiliated with the United society.

Local Contract Awarded.

Frank E. Gleason was awarded the contract to furnish coal for the Abbott Village Coal society at a meeting held in the Abbott Village hall last evening. There were four bidders and Mr. Gleason's was the lowest. These were Mahoney of Lawrence, Arlington Co-op. Association, Lawrence, Carrol & Casey, Lawrence, and F. E. Gleason. The vote was unanimous in Mr. Gleason's favor.

Ladies' Night at Lincoln Lodge.

Lincoln lodge No. 78, A. O. U. W., entertained its lady friends at Workman hall last Friday evening and the large gathering which was present enjoyed a very pleasant occasion. A fine program had been arranged by the committee in charge and this was carried out in a first class manner. Musical selections were rendered by the Raymond Male Quartet, Louis A. Dane, one of the original members of the organization 18 years ago, taking the place of first tenor, Thomas Hay, who was unable to sing on account of illness. The quartet was encored for its fine singing. The trio "A Little Farm" was exceedingly well rendered and the audience vigorously demanded an encore. Newton's orchestra furnished instrumental music which was enjoyed and they were compelled to respond many times.

The readings by Miss Elsie Eyers were cleverly rendered and she was heartily applauded and encored. At the close of the entertainment refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served and this was followed by dancing, Newton's orchestra furnishing the music. The orchestra consisted of the following: C. H. Newton, cornet; C. J. A. Marier, first violin; Charles Clark, second violin; Mrs. Foss, piano.

The program was as follows:

Overture, "Stadium March." Johnson
Orchestra
Selection, "O, Who Will O'er the Downs." Pearsall

The Fishing Trip.

Thomas Bentley conducted the first of his fishing trips to Marblehead last Saturday and although a good time is reported by all who attended the catch was about the poorest that has been reported from these pleasant outings. There were only four fish caught during the day, Chester Harnden catching a cod which weighed 39 pounds and Nathan Shattuck securing the other three which were of ordinary size.

The party which numbered about 25, left the square on Friday night and arrived at the boat after nine o'clock. Going aboard all hands turned into their bunks and after a sound sleep, an early start was made. In a few hours the fishing banks were reached, the pleasant sail being greatly enjoyed by the party.

Lines were thrown out and many of the patient fishermen waited in vain for the welcome nibble but only a few were fortunate enough to get even that. At noon the lines were withdrawn and a fine fish chowder was served. After dinner a sail down the harbor closed a pleasant day. The party arrived home about seven o'clock. Among those present were: Cutter Foster, Thomas Bentley, William Bentley, Joseph Pitman, George Muise, Ralph Manning, Nathan Shattuck, Bert Wheeler, William Rea, William Allen, James Gillen, Alexander Wyllie, James Ireland, Chester Harnden, George Fraize.

Miss Annie Dundas visited her brother Alexander Dundas, in Providence, R. I., last Sunday.

Memorial Night at the Grange.

Memorial night was fittingly observed at the Andover Grange on Tuesday evening by one of the best meetings held during this season. The meeting was well attended by Grangers and there were also sixteen members of William F. Bartlett Post 99, G. A. R. present as specially invited guests. An excellent supper was served which was greatly enjoyed and which, to those who have never had the pleasure of partaking of a Grange supper before, was quite a surprise.

Before supper the gathering met in the upper hall and the meeting was called to order by the presiding officer, Frank Foster. He spoke a few words of greeting, calling attention to the fact that six members of the Grange had passed away within a short time and the purpose of this meeting was to commemorate their death.

Different ones had been selected to say a few words regarding the departed members and all spoke with words of praise and love for the deceased. Chaplain Flint spoke feelingly of the late Henry Boynton, Samuel H. Boutwell spoke of the late Joshua Chandler, Selectman S. H. Bailey reviewed the life of the late Henry Hayward, Edward Boutwell told of the good deeds and love shown by the late Mrs. Bailey, Frank H. Hardy spoke feelingly of the death of one of the youngest departed members of the Grange, Clarence Mooar, and Edward Burtt read a paper on another young member, Russell Abbott, which was written by George Phelps.

A short program was then rendered, Newton's orchestra playing several pieces of patriotic music and Miss Marjorie Morrill gave a reading entitled, "The Advance" which was very appropriate. E. Kendall Jenkins gave a very interesting account of the formation of the local company during the war and told of the various engagements which it was in up to the time of its being mustered out. Speaker J. N. Cole then made a short address.

Adjournment was then made to the banquet hall where the supper was served, and this was followed by patriotic addresses by Comrade Davis of the Reading Post, Joseph A. Smart, Charles Greene and J. Warren Berry. At the conclusion of the speaking Ammon P. Richardson conveyed the members of the Post and a few others back to the square.

Sentenced to Jail.

John McIntyre, of Ballardvale, indicted for assault to rob Ralph Parker, was sentenced yesterday in superior criminal court at Newburyport by Judge Harris to serve not less than two and one-half years nor more than five years in state prison, one day to be in solitary confinement.

McIntyre entered Parker's store in Ballardvale, saw him counting a roll of bills, went home and procured a hammer and came back and assaulted Parker with it.

Joseph Riley was elected captain of the Ballardvale baseball team last Saturday afternoon before the game. No better selection could have been made as Captain Riley is not only popular with his players but also with people of the Village, and will do his very best to turn out a winning team.

Ballardvale will play the Defenders of Lawrence on the Plains Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock their opponents will be the strong Ascension club of Boston. Ballardvale will have to play good ball to win these games but judging from their form of last Saturday they should be the victors.

Last Saturday afternoon an alarm of fire from Box 28 summoned the local hose company to the premises of Benjamin Nason where a shed fitted up as a workshop was found to be in flames. Owing to the high wind the house and other shed were in considerable danger, but the fire was finally gotten under control by the efficient work of the firemen. The high wind carried the sparks over to Richard Sherry's house on Chester street and a fire being discovered on the roof a second alarm was rung in from Box 28 at about 3.15 o'clock, which brought the fire apparatus from the Centre, but happily their services were not needed. The exceptional efficiency of our fire department was shown and our firemen deserve special credit for the able manner in which they subdued the flames. Some difficulty was experienced in loosening the caps at the hydrant in order that the hose could be coupled. It is imperatively necessary that these caps should be examined and placed in order so that the hose can be promptly coupled as it is claimed that other hydrants are in the same condition.

Baseball.

Ballardvale 15; Pastime Juniors 1.

Ballardvale played their first game of the season on the Plains and defeated the Pastime Juniors of Lawrence by a score of 15 to 1, last Saturday.

Ballardvale played a fine game and kept the lead from the start.

The visitors lost chiefly through their inability to hit Cronin who struck out 16 men and kept them from making any approach to a safe hit. He was well supported behind the bat by Daley, who caught a star game. The batting of Clemons, Daley, and Dane was strong and timely. Captain Riley handled his men like a veteran.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home and was conducted by the Rev. William Ferguson.

Interment in Spring Grove cemetery.

Last Thursday a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Throw.

Louis Mears met with quite a painful accident while the local company was going to the fire at Richard Sherry's house on Chester street, last Saturday afternoon. A roof ladder caught Mr. Mears in the side and dragged him a considerable distance. He was finally extracted from his perilous position and his wounds were dressed by Dr. Scott, and he is doing as well as could be expected at the present time.

STUDENTS LOSE THEIR HEADS

John Milton Stewart Thrown into Rabbitt's Pond, but is Unharmed. Twenty Students Expelled for Deed.

Phillips Academy has been stirred to its foundation during the past week over a student prank was committed on John Milton Stewart, proprietor of the Phillips Inn. The prank occurred on last Friday evening shortly after half past seven when a number of students seized Mr. Stewart at the Inn, carried him to Rabbitt's pond and threw him into the water. An investigation followed and 20 fellows have been expelled from school having admitted implication in the ducking.

The trouble between Mr. Stewart and the students arose from a story said to have been told by the former to the faculty, of the attention which Travers Brown, a New York student, was paying one of the waitresses and also his expulsion of Wendel L. Paul of Montreal, Can., from the Inn. The boys felt very much wrought up over the matter as he was expelled from school, and took things into their own hands to avenge.

The plot was planned for last Friday night by about six fellows and after getting about 100 more together, began hostilities by marching down town for the purpose of congregating a larger army of students. There were many in the crowd that were not aware of the plans of the leaders and joined the parade as has been the case on previous occasions. They considered themselves very fortunate in drawing an itinerant German band into their ranks and with this at the head, the march for the Inn was started. Before arriving there the boys had been careful to cover their faces with handkerchiefs to conceal their identity and as soon as they reached the hotel a call for Mr. Stewart went up from the crowd. As he did not answer it as quickly as desired a detachment of the boys entered the hotel where they met the proprietor near the dining-room. He was immediately seized by about five of the leading men and was carried struggling to Rabbitt's pond. He was thrown into the pond where the water is very shallow and did not reach to his knees. When the members of the band became aware of what had been done they immediately left the scene and boarded the car for Lawrence.

Mr. Stewart emerged from the water in a dripping condition and was asked by a number of the crowd if he would ever tell the faculty on any more of the boys. On replying in the affirmative one of the boys run into Mr. Stewart in goat fashion, knocking him to the ground and striking his head on a stone. He was rendered unconscious by the fall and the students immediately dispersed.

Mr. Stewart was assisted to his room in the Inn and in a short time he recovered consciousness and strength from the shock.

Immediately steps were taken to punish the students for their acts and Mr. Stewart decided that circumstantial evidence indicated that Wendel Paul had been connected with the affair. Shortly after mid-night Chief of Police Frye was notified and after a warrant had been issued by Judge Stone, Paul was arrested. He was immediately bailed out by William J. Burns and was ordered to appear before Judge Stone on Saturday afternoon.

At the trial on Saturday afternoon, Mr. Stewart was represented by William Odlin and there were present several members of the faculty. No one appeared for Paul but he was accompanied by witnesses, none of whom were called however. The case was opened by Mr. Stewart giving a story of the actions of Paul in the dining room of the hotel. He said that Paul had been ungentlemanly in his language, and to the waitresses on several occasions and that he insisted on smoking in the room. Mr. Stewart claimed that he stood it as long as he could and was finally compelled to ask him to leave the hotel. After some words between Paul and Mr. Stewart the former paid his bill and left the hotel.

In telling the story of the assault Mr. Stewart said that he had a suspicion that something would be done to him to avenge the discharge of Paul and Travers Brown and thought that Paul should be arrested. He however could not prove that Paul was there or that he had been connected with the affair in any way.

Henry W. Boynton was the next witness called and he said that he was sitting on the porch of the Inn when the students made their attack on Mr. Stewart but could not tell if Mr. Paul was there or not. Archibald Freeman, a member of the Phillips Academy faculty was called and corroborated the statements of Mr. Boynton but could not prove that Paul was present.

Henry H. Hobbs was called and he said that he had mealed at the hotel during the year and that on the day of Paul's discharge he requested him to get up a crowd and "rough-house" Stewart. This statement with events which had taken place led up to the arrest of Paul. The evidence was not enough to convict Paul and on the advice of the counsel for the prosecution he was discharged.

In the meantime Principal A. E. Stearns, who had been in Pittsburg, Pa., attending an alumni dinner was notified of the events and he immediately left for Andover, where he arrived late Sunday night.

On Saturday there were no recitations for the students, the faculty being busy with investigations, many of the students being called before the instructors to tell what they knew of the episode. No definite information could be obtained from them and it was decided to wait for Mr. Stearns before action should be taken.

On Monday the faculty met and nearly every student in school was called before it. The boys were put on their honor and only questions concerning their own actions on the night of the affair were asked. In nearly every instance where a boy was guilty he admitted it and did not wince at the penalty of expulsion that was meted out. In all twenty students were dismissed from school and two or three left of their own accord. The expelled students generally agreed that the faculty had dealt fairly with them and they were satisfied that they had received their just deserts.

In an interview with Principal Stearns he stated that he did not know whether the episode would end here or not but thought that if any more of the students were connected with the affair they would soon be found out and would suffer the same penalty that the twenty other fellows have faced.

ANDOVER'S GENEROSITY

What Andover Has Done for the Sufferers from Earthquake and Fire.

The great calamity which struck San Francisco on the night of April 18 and what followed during the next few days has been reviewed in every clime aroudn the globe and pictured out in the newspapers everywhere, and for several days following all eyes and ears were strained toward the Golden Gate. Beginning with an earthquake which shattered and ruined some of the best and most costly buildings in the city, the disaster ended only after the fire which followed had burned itself out, the fire departments being of little or no assistance as the water supply had been entirely shut off.

People were driven from their homes in large numbers to the parks and other safe places with what little clothing or provisions they could conveniently carry, the rich as well as the poor being satisfied if a covering could be found for them. With starvation staring them in the face they awoke on the morning of the 21st to learn that friends in the east had been made aware of their condition, and in a short time food and clothing were pouring into the city for the relief of the destitute.

In nearly every state in the Union, as well as in almost every city and town, committees were appointed to serve as treasurers and collectors and the amount of money collected was enormous. Massachusetts was called upon to do its share and the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co. of Boston was appointed the state treasurer. The money came in from all quarters in large and small amounts until there has been over $800,000 sent from the state.

Of course Andover did her share. Long before an appeal was made Andover had already appointed a treasurer, and the Townsman urged the people to contribute from the "mickles to the muckles." J. Tyler Kimball, cashier of the Andover National Bank, was the treasurer who was appointed to receive the funds and money poured in for several days following. Factories and individuals gave freely; conservative estimates were placed at $1000. This amount was soon collected and still the money came in, the first week $1489.20 being given.

On Monday evening, April 23, a meeting of twenty-five prominent citizens was held in the lower Town hall when plans were discussed for raising more money. After several ideas had been presented it was thought best to issue subscription books and circulate them through the town. A committee of five was appointed to collect, consisting of: Walter S. Donald, John W. Bell, William J. Burns, Fred H. Jones and Alfred E. Stearns.

During the next week the contributions were large and the total on Friday was $2096.01. The following week brought more contributions and at the end the total had reached $2267.26. Since then the contributions have come in slowly, those which have not been published being: Miss Ellen G. Peabody, $5; Junior Y. P. S. C. E. of the South church, $3.50 and grade three, John Dove school, $1.65, making a total to date of $2277.41.

Baseball.

Punchard 6, Andover Guild 5.

The Punchard high school baseball team defeated the Andover Guild on the playstead Saturday afternoon by the score of 6 to 5.

The game was exciting from start to finish and was in doubt until the last man was out.

Ryley, who pitched for the Guild pitched a great game, having eight strike outs to his credit. He also fielded his position perfectly, having seven chances.

Captain O'Connell who pitched for the high school boys played a fine game, fanning 10 men and allowing only one pass. Both pitchers were supported poorly.

Exeter Won Debate.

The first annual debate between Andover and Exeter was held in the Academy chapel at Exeter, Saturday night, May 19, at eight o'clock. The subject of the debate, Resolved, "That interscholastic football is more of a benefit than a detriment," brought forth some very strong arguments from both sides.

By the decision of three judges, Professor Craven Laycock, Dartmouth college; Professor W. B. Mitchell, Bowdoin college; and Professor H. B. Huntington, Brown University, the debate was given to Exeter by a vote of 2 to 1. In rendering the decision Professor Laycock asserted that the debate was one of the closest that he had ever heard, and that it was also one of the best interscholastic debates that had been held in years.

COMMERCIAL

$50,000,000 Loan Snapped Up.

The year and a half term 4½ per cent notes for $50,000,000 issued by the Pennsylvania railroad and secured on the stock of the company were promptly negotiated by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York, all being taken by a number of large banking houses, the applications highly exceeding the amount. The notes were not offered to the general public. The proceeds are to be used generally in advancement of the many improvements and extensions which the company has under way.

Trade Conditions In Cuba.

The recent report of Special Agent Pepper of the department of commerce and labor concerning the business conditions in Cuba predicts increasing markets for American goods. It shows that the Cuban foreign commerce amounts to $200,000,000 a year and that the United States is now furnishing the island with $50,000,000 worth of products. There is a shortage in the tobacco crops due to floods, and the sugar crop is likely to be much smaller in quantity and lower in price. Labor is scarce and wages high owing to the amount of American and European capital on tap for development purposes.

C. M. Pepper.

Britishers Quitting the Mutual.

There has been a great rush of Mutual Life policy holders in England to transfer their policies to the North British company and other home concerns.

LABOR

End of the Lake Strike.

In the articles of agreement by virtue of which the traffic of the great lakes was resumed, the ten hour day and the same wages as were paid last year to the longshoremen were the principal points.

Miners Stand Firm.

John H. Winder, chairman of the coal operators of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, received a telegram from President Mitchell refusing the proposition to arbitrate all differences between operators and miners. The message was to the effect that the miners would stand by the decision of the International Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of America, which was that any arbitration that would change differentials fixed by mutual agreement in competitive districts would be unwise and would not conserve satisfactory peace in the bituminous industry.

Chicago Unionists Sentenced.

The trial of the seven Chicago union laborers, charged with conspiracy in connection with the agreement by the officers of the Carriage and Wagon Workers' union to assault violators of strike orders, came to an end when a motion to arrest judgment was refused and severe sentences were imposed. Gilhooly and Looney got $2,000 and $1,000 respectively and a penitentiary sentence besides, and Shields, Deutsche, Newman, Holden and Casey were all sent to the penitentiary. The trial lasted 102 days and cost the state $49,000.

Troops For Striking Brickmakers.

The brickmaking industry along the upper Hudson river was tied up as the result of a general strike ordered by the local union. Rioting followed an attempt to run the yards with non-union help, and the Albany militia was called out. The town of Coeymans was put under martial law.

Funeral Drivers Win Strike.

After seriously inconveniencing the funeral directors and public of New York for several days the strike of the Funeral Drivers' union was settled by granting their demands for an increase of wages from $12 to $14 a week.

FOREIGN

Voice of Russian People Heard.

The people of Russia at last have found their voice in the reply of the douma to the czar's speech. This address, which seems destined to hold a historic place in the development of representative institutions for Russia, received unanimous approval after an extended debate in which nearly every member had an opportunity to voice his opinion. Following are the principal demands:

1. Recalling the czar's promise of Oct. 30, the douma will submit a bill in accordance with the will of the people based upon universal suffrage without distinction of sexes. 2. That any reform must be based on the free and independent participation of the people by legislative power and that the ministry must be amenable to the douma. The sorest spot in the nation's life is said to be "the arbitrary power of officials, who separate the czar from his people." Consequently all exceptional laws as to state of siege, etc., must be repealed. 3. In the same spirit it is demanded that the imperial council, or upper house, be abolished. 4. The equality of all citizens must be established before the law, and a bill for this purpose is being prepared. 5. It is the unanimous view of the nation that the law abolishing the death penalty be restored. 6. A law is wanted confirming the peasants in their enjoyment of equal rights by authorizing the use of the crown domains and monastic lands by compulsory expropriation. 7. Popular education is another task set by the douma. 8. And finally the demand for "amnesty for all crimes committed from religious or political motives or agragrian offenses."

Professor Mouromtseff, president of the douma, immediately arranged to convey the address to the czar in person.

Commons For the Eight Hour Day.

The British house of commons has passed unanimously the coal mines bill, the purpose of which is to gradually reduce the hours of work until the eight hour day is enjoyed by all in 1909. About 670,000 workers are affected.

Alfonso's Gift to Ena.

King Alfonso's wedding gift to Princess Ena will be jewels valued at half a million dollars, including a gold crown studded with diamonds.

Turkey Yields to England.

Finally, after much delay and when the time limit of the British ultimatum was about to expire, the sultan of Turkey ordered his forces to evacuate Tabah and all Egyptian territory. The sultan had expressed his willingness to accept the majority of the conditions imposed by the British government and to have a new agreement drawn up as to the frontier.

Russian Admiral Assassinated.

Vice Admiral Kousmitch, commandant of the port of St. Petersburg, was slain by the dagger thrust of a workman within a yard of the new admiralty works, and the assassin successfully concealed his identity among the 2,000 employees. The men had been incensed because of the admiral's refusal to give them part of the Russian May day for a labor demonstration.

Japan's New Tariff Law.

The main features of the tariff bill which has been passed by the present session of the Japanese parliament, according to a report from Consul General Miller at Yokohama, are retaliatory and discriminating duties, with a strong leaning toward a protective policy. Only those articles are on the free list which Japan can use to advantage in manufacturing articles for the oriental trade, while the tariff for such manufactured articles is advanced. The consumption of American flour is to be checked by raising the duty to 72 cents per 133 pounds. There is a general advance in cotton yarns and goods, metals, machinery, locomotives, watches, jewelry, etc.

EDUCATIONAL

College of Socialism Ready.

Announcement has been made of the opening Oct. 1 of the new College of Socialism at New York, endowed by the late Elizabeth D. Rand, mother of Mrs. George D. Herron. Algernon Lee, who was the Socialist candidate for mayor of New York last year and editor of the leading Socialist organ, the Worker, is to be president of the new college. Its home is a four story brownstone building at 112 East Nineteenth street. The course is to be divided into three groups—first, in which the lighter foundation subjects of political economy, history and sociology will be taught by lecture and text books; second, the lecture conference course in which the free discussion of theories and principles of social reform and ethics will be encouraged, and, third, what might be called applied socialism or lecture courses on labor unions, child labor, woman suffrage, age pensions, immigration and other practical subjects. President Lee says that the object is to furnish a scientific basis for socialistic thought rather than to run a propaganda. There will be nothing but evening classes at the beginning. The other officers are Morris Hilquitt, treasurer, and W. J. Ghent, secretary.

Algernon Lee.

Cornell Lowers Age Limit.

The Cornell university board of trustees has decided to reduce from seventy to sixty-five the limit of active service for members of the instructing staff.

Novel School of Industry.

Educators and the public in general are showing much interest in the recent opening of the Oread School of Agriculture, Manufactures and Commerce, which occupies 4,000 acres of land some eighteen miles from Baltimore. Its founder and head is Henry D. Perky. From each state two students will be admitted to work their way through, but the number of pay students is unlimited. They will be trained in actual cultivation and management of farms.

SOCIOLOGICAL

Municipal Ownership Report.

Frederick C. Howe, who was sent to England as a special agent of this government to investigate the progress of municipal ownership, has made his report. His conclusion is that we are behind the rest of the world in this respect. Out of 3,110 undertakings of public utilities in England 1,717 are owned by municipalities, and many of the other kind are passing into public control. He says that the British have come generally to accept public as opposed to private ownership as applied to water, gas lighting, street railways and markets. In some places public ownership has come to include dwellings, docks, markets, baths, race courses, fisheries, slaughter houses, milk depots, employment bureaus and sewage farms. Brighton and Southborough have municipal theaters. There is now talk of buying up coal mines. Dr. Howe finds that ownership stimulates public spirit and permits one public utility to serve another, and he finds that it has proved a financial success.

Co-operation For Ex-Convicts.

W. R. Merrick tells in the May World Today how, with the assistance of the Cleveland workhouse officials, a band of former lawbreakers has formed an organization for self help and brotherly co-operation. In restoring a man who has dropped from his place in society, the work is mainly in the hands of the released prisoners themselves, who have rented a house and fitted it in comfortable style for the use of members until they can obtain suitable employment. In no way does the home seem unlike several other homes of bachelors in large cities. The man who is managing it was formerly charged by police judges as beyond redemption. A part of the earnings of each man goes toward sustaining the home.

Ignorance of Charity Workers.

One of the chief topics of interest during the national conference of charities and corrections at Philadelphia was the address of Dr. Edward T. Devine on "The Dominant Note of Modern Philanthropy." Although Devine was unavoidably absent, being in charge of the Red Cross work at San Francisco, his address was read. He charged that the temperance reformers are completely ignorant of the reasons for the existence of inebriates; that the managers of the institutions for the care of children are ignorant of the causes which have led to the orphanage or neglect of their wards; that the directors and physicians in the hospitals are neglectful or indifferent.

MISCELLANEOUS

Terranova Murder Case.

Peculiar interest attaches to the trial of Josephine Terranova at New York, the seventeen-year-old bride, indicted for murder in the first degree for having stabbed to death her aged uncle, Riggio, and his wife. The fact that she had been held in bondage from infancy by her relatives and had been forced to submit to the man's lust, with the connivance of the wife, went far to justify her act in the public mind. Only after she had become married to T. Terranova, a prosperous young contractor, had the girl understood her position, and, arrayed in her wedding finery, with face wreathed in smiles, but with a knife concealed in her shawl, she had called on the Riggios, only to give them the embrace of death, having been moved to this course by the desertion of her husband, who had received the damaging information from Riggio himself. After her arrest Terranova became reconciled to his wife.

Anna Valentina Not to Hang.

The New Jersey court of pardons by a vote of 5 to 3 changed to life imprisonment the death sentence under which Anna Valentina of Bergen county was resting for the murder of the woman who had estranged her husband.

Anarchist Berkman Out of Prison.

Alexander Berkman, the anarchist who attempted to assassinate H. C. Frick in the office of the Carnegie works at Pittsburg in 1892, emerged Friday from the prison in which he had been restrained for thirteen years and eight months. At the time of his attempted crime he was a smooth faced boy of nineteen, a Russian book binder scarcely able to speak English. He is now a heavily bearded man of thirty-three who speaks fluently and shows every evidence of being an educated man in touch with the progress of the world. During his imprisonment he had studied incessantly. Contrary to previous reports of Berkman's repentance, he promptly told the reporters that he was not sorry that he had shot Frick, but that his action was in no sense personal. He was met at the prison door by several of his anarchist friends, who presented him with a purse of $500, and he started at once for St. Louis, where he was expecting to consider the offer of some newspaper to edit its labor department. From the moment Berkman became free detectives employed by Frick at an expense of $10,000 a year began to shadow him.

Gutters Run With Wine.

At the Washington home of ex-Senator John B. Henderson of Missouri the entire contents of his wine cellar, containing rare old beverages to the value of $1,000, were poured into the street gutter in the presence of a large company of the members of the Independent Order of Rechabites. Not long ago Mr. and Mrs. Henderson joined the order and became temperance advocates. Not being willing to sell or give away the wines on principle, it was resolved to destroy it.

Indian Prince In America.

Maharajah Gaekwar of Baroda, India, with his wife and suit, arrived at New York for the purpose of observing American institutions with especial reference to our educational system.

Fatal Mine Explosion.

Five men were killed and nineteen injured in a mine explosion at Mahanoy City, Pa. The explosion was caused by the accidental dropping of a can of dynamite.

Death of Carl Schurz.

Carl Schurz, the noted German and American statesman, editor and patriot, died at his home in New York May 14 at the age of seventy-seven. He served with distinction during the civil war, was a senator from Missouri, a member of Hayes' cabinet and editor of the New York Evening Post. He was prominent among those independents known as mugwumps and later the anti-imperialists.

CORDIAL INVITATION
ADDRESSED TO WORKING GIRLS

Miss Barrows Tells How Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Helps Working Girls.

Girls who work are particularly susceptible to female disorders, especially those who are obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night in stores or factories.

Day in and day out the girl toils, and she is often the bread-winner of the family. Whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, she must get to her place of employment, perform the duties exacted of her—smile and be agreeable.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach. In consequence of frequent wetting of the feet, periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden. All these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism which can be easily and promptly cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Abby F. Barrows, Nelsonville, Athens Co., Ohio, tells what this great medicine did for her. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I feel it my duty to tell you the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have done for me. Before I took them I was very nervous, had dull headaches, pains in back, and periods were irregular, I had been to several doctors, and they did me no good.

"Your medicine has made me well and strong. I can do most any kind of work without complaint, and my periods are all right.

"I am in better health than I ever was, and I know it is all due to your remedies. I recommend your advice and medicine to all who suffer."

It is to such girls that Mrs. Pinkham holds out a helping hand and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Her long record of success in treating woman's ills makes her letters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

ON BEACON HILL

TO HOLD CONFERENCE OVER BRIDGE BILL.

BOSTON, May 23—The governor's fourth veto, that on the Boston district aldermanic bill, was easily sustained in the house yesterday afternoon. Without debate the house refused to put the bill over the veto.

Eight members voted so to do, but 137 voted to sustain the governor. Those voting to pass the bill over the veto were Conway of ward 23, Boston; Haggerty of Webster, O'Brien and O'Rourke of Worcester, Shiels and John F. Sullivan of Boston, Downey of Cambridge and Buckley of Boston. All are Democrats.

The house refused to recede from its position on the Lawrence bridge bill and concurred with the senate in asking for a committee of conference.

A resolve was offered by Mr. Welsh of Falmouth favoring the passage of the bill now pending in congress to promote the efficiency of the life-saving service. It was referred to the committee on rules.

The committee on ways and means reported a bill appropriating $15,000 for band concerts in the metropolitan parks.

The Danvers water bill was passed to be engrossed.

The bill to establish a juvenile offenders' court in Boston was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to make effective the award of the committee appointed by Gov. Crane to determine the damage caused to the town of Clinton by the construction of the metropolitan water system occasioned some debate, but was finally passed to be engrossed in an amended form. The commission awarded the town $4000 a year so long as the town remained a municipality, which would practically mean for all time.

Mr. Peabody of Cambridge moved to amend the bill so that the entire amount, $64,988, be paid at once. The bill so amended was passed to be engrossed.

There was a long debate on the resolve appropriating $16,000 for improvements at the Worcester insane asylum, particular objection being made to the item of $9500 for plumbing by several of the Worcester representatives. Mr. O'Brien of Worcester moved to amend the bill to provide that plans and specifications for the proposed work should be submitted to and approved by the state board of health, and that the work be done by contract, after the submission of bids by not less than three reputable plumbers under bond. Mr. O'Brien's amendment was lost on a rising vote of 38 to 74, and the bill passed to engrossment.

SLIDING SCALE PASSES.

The senate had an important session yesterday and bills of great public interest were advanced, some of them without serious opposition. The senate took up the sliding scale gas bill. Senator Schofield of Essex thought the referendum to the people of Boston ought to be attached to the measure, but this was rejected, 7 to 16. Senator Clark, chairman of public lighting, briefly explained the measure.

The bill, entitled "An act to promote the reduction of the price of gas in the city of Boston and its vicinity," was then ordered to a third reading without division.

By perhaps the most decisive vote of the session was that which ordered to a third reading the bill placing telegraph and telephone companies under supervision by the Massachusetts highway commission, by a vote of 32 to 3.

Senator Felker of Berkshire-Hampshire at last struck the promised snag with his bill for the taxation of such college property as is not directly used for educational purposes. Senator Sieberlich moved that the bill be referred to the next general court.

This motion prevailed on a rollcall, 10 to 15.

The resolve to provide for an investigation of conditions in barber shops was passed to be engrossed, 18 to 16.

On the bill relative to railroads and street railways, Cummings, Nevin and Taft were appointed senate conferees.

On motion of Senator Bullock the bill to provide for the election at large of a chairman of the board of aldermen of Boston was taken from the table, and on motion of Senator Taylor further consideration was postponed until today.

The motion to reconsider the acceptance of the report of the committee on the American life insurance company bill was lost by a rising vote of 8 to 18.

The bill to regulate the sale and leasing of machinery was put over until tomorrow on motion of Senator Hill.

The "pony express bill" was passed to be enacted, on a rollcall, 23 to 12.

STATE BONDS TAXATION HEARING.

The hearing at the state house before the house committee on ways and means on the bill to exempt from local taxation bonds issued to the state, opened with a strenuous protest from Senator Seiberlich of Boston and Representative Birch of Milford because, as they claimed, the members of the committee on taxation who opposed the bill had not been individually notified of the hearing. After the matter was settled arguments were heard on the merits of the bill until adjournment, which was taken until today.

BOSTON, May 24—Both branches of the state legislature held short sessions yesterday the only matter debatable of general interest being the juvenile court bill in the lower branch.

When this was reached Mr. McManus of Natick moved to strike from the bill the portion which provides for the appointment of deputy probation officers, who are to serve without salary. He said this provision was sought by the "long-haired men and short-haired women" who cling to the spirts of real philanthropists for the sake of the creation of unnecessary jobs. If the bill passed without the amendment, these people, he said, would later move for a salary.

Mr. McEttrick of Boston moved to amend section 4 by striking out the provision which would give the court jurisdiction over neglected children.

Mr. Buckley of Boston moved to amend section 8, which provides that the superintendent of the Boston public schools and any teacher must furnish the courts from time to time any information regarding the pupils. Mr. Buckley considered that such inquiry must refer only to children under the care of the court or on probation.

Recess interrupted debate and at the opening of the afternoon session Mr. Cushing of Boston moved certain perfecting amendments.

Mr. Davis of Salem asked if the purpose of the establishment of the court was not to give a job to a deposed police commissioner, to which Mr. Cushing replied, that it was not and that he had heard no name mentioned for the place.

Mr. Conway of ward 23 closed the debate in favor of the bill.

The Cushing and Buckley amendments were adopted, the McEttrick and McManus amendments defeated, and the bill passed to be engrossed, to become operative next September.

The report of the committee on ways and means relative to the quantity and price of coal used at state institutions and by counties, cities and towns was accepted.

Mr. Mellen of Worcester, who had introduced the order seeking the information contained in the report, stated that as the coal strike had been settled there was not at present any urgent need for legislation, based on the report. He had not had time to analyze the report, but called attention to the fact that state institutions seemed to be able to purchase coal for less than the municipalities. He felt that something radical should be done as to the means of securing coal supplies, but did not care to suggest any legislation so late in the session.

The house concurred with the senate amendment to the free employment office bill. The amendment strikes out the last section of the bill, so that the measure does not become operative until the passage of 30 days.

The bill to allow gas companies to increase their capital stock above the limit now prescribed by law was ordered to a third reading.

The house concurred with the senate order in referring the college property taxation bill to the special recess committee.

The state senate yesterday morning passed to engrossment, without division or debate, the so-called sliding scale gas bill, after which the senate suspended rule 8, in order that the bill might go immediately to the house for enactment.

The telephone bill was then passed to be engrossed, without further debate or division, and rule 8 was suspended.

Both the sliding scale and the telephone bills have already passed the house.

Senator Taylor's bill to provide for the election at large of a chairman of the board of aldermen of the city of Boston was ordered to a third reading by a rising vote of 21 to 3.

Senator Taylor moved to strike out of the bill relative to caucuses and elections the provision of the bill which requires the height of voters in Boston to be indicated on the voting list. The amendment was adopted by a rising vote of 13 to 8. On a rollcall the amendment was rejected, 14 to 20 and the bill passed to be engrossed.

Senator Reed moved to reconsider the engrossment of the "barber shop" resolve. Reconsideration prevailed by a rising vote of 18 to 17. On a rollcall the motion was lost, 17 to 19.

The committee on cities reported a bill to authorize the city of Malden to incur additional indebtedness not exceeding $100,000 for park purposes.

ANNUAL MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS.

The annual meeting of the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association was held last night to listen to the reports of the chairmen of the various committees and officers, and to elect new officers, and transact other necessary business. The new constitution drafted last April was read and explained. The reports were all of an encouraging nature, showing that excellent work was being done by the organization.

The following submitted reports: George L. Seldon, chairman of the board of directors; George B. Thomas, secretary of the association; Mrs. Nellie Trees, president of the Ladies Auxiliary; J. A. Robinson, report of religious work; J. A. Macdonald, report on gymnasium work; H. O. Keesling, report on bowling; PJ. Rodney Ball, report on membership; Thomas Fairbairn, report on receptions. H. P. Wilkinson, treasurer, was unavoidably absent and his report was read by Fred E. Batchelder, chairman of the finance committee.

The report of the educational work under the direction of E. S. Riley was accepted, and a vote of thanks was tendered him.

After the reports of the directors were read officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, George L. Seldon; vice presidents, Ephraim Searle, Albert I. Couch; clerk, J. Rodney Ball; treasurer, H. P. Wilkinson; directors, one year, Frank Farr, E. S. Riley, N. O. Magoon, J. M. Smith; two years, Charles H. Kitchin, Ivar L. Sjostrom, W. E. Philbrick, F. E. Batchelder; three years, James A. Macdonald, Rev. H. G. Mank, Edward S. Gould, George E. Murray; auditor, Fred H. Eaton.

A short entertainment followed the business.

Secretary Thomas' report follows:

To the Board of Directors,—

Gentlemen.—

Just five months ago today I took up the duties of General Secretary of this Association. Succeeding a man of marked ability and years of experience in association work, I came in fear and trembling but have been greatly encouraged and pleased by the splendid support and sympathy which I have received from all those connected with our work. And I wish at this time to express my hearty appreciation and thanks for the many acts of courtesy and kindness shown me while carrying out your wishes. As the work of the several committees cover in detail the work of the year I will but touch on the various departments.

First in importance is the religious work of the Association.

The Men's meetings have been attended with excellent results and we believe been helpful to the many men which have attended them. The Bible classes have proven a definite help in developing young men. "The Eaton Club" which is a group of young men who meet each week for bible study and prayer have been a source of great pleasure and an inspiration. There are great possibilities in connection with the Bible study department of the association. This should always be a prominent feature of association work. The increased attendance at the gymnasium from year to year is a proof that young men are learning that it is time well invested to look after the needs of the body and to make it a fit dwelling place for the soul. The large number of baths that have been taken is a proof of one attraction of this department. And that our bowling alleys are always busy shows also that the association is a place of recreation for the young men of our city.

The social department has been wisely directed and productive of great good. Reception, entertainments, basket ball games have provided real recreation without temptation. Without doubt the greatest temptations comes to young men through their desire to satisfy social instincts. Bearing this in mind the importance of this work is apparent. The association endeavors to make the building more attractive to boys and men than the places of evil.

Scores of young men, strangers in our city, have been directed to suitable places for room and board, and many to places of employment, this is an important part of our work.

Our Educational work for the past year has been satisfactory, and we have been able to help many young men who are trying to help themselves. 86 men enrolled in our different classes show a decided increase over last year. Our reading room with the best magazines and newspapers is in constant use. A large industrial work is planned for the coming year, the committee already having plans under consideration.

Our two great needs at present are of course a new building and an outdoor department situated on the river. Such a place fitted out with boats and canoes, and a place where our members could spend the day would meet a great need. Many of the associations are making a special feature of this work.

Grateful recognition is here made to all who have assisted in the work. To the Woman's Auxiliary who have contributed liberally to the supply of the association and have lent their co-operation continually, to the local papers for their generous space accorded the association, to the churches and clergymen for their co-operation and Christian fellowship, to our contributors who have assisted so generously in the support of the work, to officers and committees for loyal support and to Almighty God for the evidence of his favor without which our work would fall but with which, we enter the next year of opportunity confident of his great and precious promises.

BOSTON'S FASTEST GROWING DEP'T STORE

WASHINGTON STREET THROUGH TO WINTER STREET

Individuality – Originality

SINCE this business started years ago, when the middle-aged folks of today were very young children, its aim has been to give a little better public service than could be found in any other establishment. We have never been content simply to get along in a class with other good stores, and so it has been necessary to strike out along new paths, many of which have proved to be well worth traveling and are well traveled by many good stores today.

No better example of the store's individuality or originality can be proven than that of its remarkable growth —from a little store at 5 Winter Street, way back in 1855 to its present magnificent headquarters in 1906

The New Corner Addition has already proven a Grand Success, beautifully fitted with counters, section drawers and paneling of mahogany, with numbers of mirrors so placed that one may see themselves from almost every angle with the merest turn of the head.

The Counters, unlike other stores, are low and firm, making it possible for patrons and clerks alike to see and handle the goods with the greatest ease and rapidity.

¶ The Goods represented in this New Section are Silks, Velvets, Laces, Dress Trimmings, Braids and Buttons, Veilings, Ribbons and Ladies' Neckwear

You can depend on finding here not only what is as good as usual, but something a bit better than usual in varieties of goods, in qualities of goods, in values of goods—and in the details of store service that make this a pleasant place in which to trade.

Your welcome to the store is encouraged by our determination to keep it best by making it steadily better as time goes on.

THERE WILL BE NO STRIKE ON BOSTON AND NORTHERN.

BOSTON, May 22—There will be no strike of the employes of the Boston and Northern street railway company.

An agreement satisfactory to the committee of the employes and the representatives of the company was entered into last night, after a long session, and will be signed as soon as it can be drawn up in proper form.

The fact that an agreement has been reached will be cheering news to the employes, as they have for years been contending that their organization should be recognized. The conditions of the agreement will not be made known for a few days or until signatures have been secured.

Harmony prevailed at the final meeting and just before adjournment it was agreed that a statement should be given out regarding the situation and that nothing further should be said by either side as to any of the points of the agreement. Both sides firmly held to this and at the conclusion no one could be found who would comment on the terms of the agreement.

The following statement was issued last evening by President Patrick F. Sullivan of the Boston and Northern, and was agreed to by the committee of employes:

"We met this afternoon and evening and arrived at what we consider a mutually satisfactory basis. All that is lacking to complete the negotiations is getting into writing for purpose of signature various items agreed upon. Throughout the whole negotiations the pleasantest relations prevailed, there was no attempt made at technicalities, there was on both sides an endeavor to arrive at what would be a fair conclusion."

The first meeting yesterday was held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the offices of the company on the sixth floor of the India company. There was a long discussion and then an adjournment was taken until 7 in the evening. The company was represented by President Sullivan, Vice President and General Manager Robert S. Goff and Assistant General Manager H. E. Reynolds. The employes were represented by 13 delegates, representing each division of the system: William D. Mahon of Detroit, international president of the Amalgamated association of street railway employes; Dennis E. Fitzgerald of New Haven and William B. Fitzgerald of Troy, members of the international executive board.

Everything relating to the matter at hand was discussed and perfect harmony prevailed. The men, no doubt, made concessions, and the same is undoubtedly true of President Sullivan and his associates.

It is said that the men did not succeed in securing the flat rate of 28 cents an hour which they demanded originally, as the company was opposed to this and also to the abolition of the merit system.

That the employes in addition to receiving recognition of the union, were conceded better conditions than they are working under at present there can be no doubt. While none of the delegates or international representatives would talk, they all left the meeting room with smiling faces that denoted their satisfaction at the outcome of negotiations.

The fact, that there will be no strike of the employes of this company which number into the thousands, will prove of vast importance, not alone to the company and its army of employes, but to the thousands who daily ride in the cars of the company over its 840 miles of track.

About two years ago the officials of the company had a conference with President Mahon, but nothing came of it. This time Mr. Mahon was more successful in his negotiations, and he was warmly congratulated by the delegates for the successful outcome of the issue.

President Sullivan was seen last evening in his office immediately after the conference, but refused to say anything further. Mr. Mahon, for the employes, was equally reticent.

It is probable that the agreement will be put in writing and signed within a few days by the various delegates. The agreement does not require the signature of Mr. Mahon, and he may leave Boston before the document is signed.

SNOW 50 FEET DEEP IN SIERRAS.

Truckee correspondence Sacramento Bee.

James Henderson, a lineman employed by the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company, stationed at Cisco and who has charge of the company's lines throughout the entire section over the summit, was in Truckee Saturday and said that the snow in many places on the mountains was fully fifty feet deep.

Between Cisco and Emigrant Gap is canon which is 110 feet deep. It is filled with snow and a man on snow shoes can walk from one ridge across to the other. About five miles west of Truckee there is another canon where the wind has a clean sweep out into the Donner Lake Valley. In this canon there is a bank of "the beautiful" forming a perpendicular white cliff fully 200 feet high.

Mr. Henderson also said that the telephone poles are standing in many feet of snow, and that wires are covered also. At present the wires are working well, despite the fact they are buried deep in the snow.

Andover Boy on Mississippi Yacht.

The following is a clipping from the Daily News of Red Wing, Minn. Fitzgerald is an Andover boy who has been on the yacht Wacoutah the past two months on the Mississippi river, stopping at all the large cities. He intends to remain at Red Wing until June 1 and be at his home in Andover by June 15. The yacht is owned by a Mr. Rich. The clipping says:

"With him in charge of the vessel are two very interesting young men. L. B. Giddens, the engineer, is from Tampa, Florida, where he has always lived, until he started on the Wacoutah, on his trip for the North, the first of April. The steward is T. F. Fitzgerald of Boston, Mass., who has always lived in the Bay State until he went to Florida for a few months' visit last winter and there met Mr. Rich and was induced to take the place of the Japanese steward, when he left. Mr. Giddens has never seen a snow storm in his life, while Fitzgerald has cut some ice every winter, until he went to Florida last winter and admits that he felt as if he were away from home on that account. Mr. Giddens is as enthusiastic for Florida as one of its native sons ought to be, while the Bostonian is equally proud of his Athenian nativity. They tell some great yarns about the Florida coast, and the big fish you can catch there, and the trip west is new to both of them. They admit that Red Wirg is by far the prettiest place they have seen along the way and anticipate much pleasure on better acquaintance with it, during their stay."

Letter to John Tyler Kimball.

Andover, Mass.

Dear Sir: Mr. H. H. Stephenson, Cashier of Oil City, (Pa.) Savings Bank writes: "Nine years ago I painted my house with your paint. It wore so well, I want to use it again."

That's nothing wonderful except for the fact that the soft coal region of Pennsylvania is pretty hard on paint with its oil, smoke and grime. All we see in it is that Devoe is good for nine years sometimes. There are thousands of people that know it, and millions that don't.

There's the rub! We advertise for the millions; we want to make paint for the millions.

Mr. Cashier, do you know that Devoe lead-and-zinc is twice as cheap as lead-and oil, or mixed paints? Is 100 per cent a fair profit in your business?

Three-quarters of the people paint lead-and oil mixed by hand; while the U. S. Government use lead, zinc and oil ground together by machinery—same as Devoe lead-and-zinc. The majority never is right about anything.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.

WILSON—JENSEN.

One of the prettiest weddings of the spring was solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Helena Jensen on Stonington street, when at 7.30 o'clock her daughter, Miss Dagmar Helena was united in the holy bonds of marriage by Rev. H. Usher Monro, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The ceremony was performed in the spacious parlor which was very attractively decorated with potted plants palms and flowers. The wedding party took their stand before a massive bank of greenery from which peeped out the delicate colors of potted plants. During the ceremony Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Mrs. J. D. Osgood, a sister of the bride. The other rooms of the house were also very prettily decorated.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Frank E. Wilson of Hartford, Conn., was very becomingly gowned in white chiffon, over white silk, with trimmings of Pompadour, Oriental and Valenciennes laces. She wore a castly necklace and locket, studded with diamonds, the latter being the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a beautiful bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Helga Jensen, a sister of the bride, wore a pink silk and carried pink carnations. William Wilson, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

The ushers were Alfred Jensen, brother of the bride, and William F. Fallon of South Lawrence.

Following the marriage a reception was held from 8 till 9.30 o'clock at the bride's home where Mr. and Mrs. Wilson received the congratulations of their many friends.

A very neat collation was served to the guests during the evening.

Guests were present from Hagerstown, Maryland, Boston, Springfield, Bradford, Lawrence and North Andover. The bride was favored with a large number of costly presents. Noticed were gifts of silver, cut glass, china and other ware, and more useful articles. Amid a shower of rice and confetti, with the sincere wishes of all for continued happiness and prosperity in the future Mr. and Mrs Wilson left shortly before 9.30 o'clock for an extended trip through New York. Both young people are most favorably thought of among a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

Our New Gas Shelf is also winning great favor; it does any work that can be done on an ordinary gas range.
